| Oct. 10, 1906 | Mr. Luther Rogers, appointed an expert in vessel reporting at $840 per annum, to take effect on taking the oath of office. For 20 years Mr. Rogers has studied the craft that passes in and out of Chesapeake Bay, so that he knows the vessels of the different lines and is able to distinguish them farther away than any one in the employ of the Weather Bureau, and he is familiar with all international and other signals. In other words, he has developed a talent for visual vessel reporting that can not be measured by any competitive test. For years he was employed by the Baltimore Chamber of Commerce and had space in the Cape Henry office of the Weather Bureau. Since the Weather Bureau undertook to do the vessel reporting that is required by the Baltimore marine interests, we have found it impossible to train any man to do the work as well as Mr. Rogers can do it. He is still at Cape Henry, and his services will be especially valuable at that place. | p. a. $840. 00 | |
| | Mr. Homer H. Simmons, appointed a student assistant at $300 per annum, to take effect on Nov. 1, 1906, to render 3 hours service daily. He has been employed in the Department before, and is therefore familiar with the work performed at the Weather Bureau stations. He will be assigned to duty at the Nashville, Tenn., station, where it is believed that he will be able to render additional assistance needed as a result of the relief of an assistant observer. | p. a. 300. 00 | |
| | Mr. Carl F. Kuppler, appointed a printer temporarily at $1,000 per annum, to take effect on taking the oath of office and continue until the termination of Nov. 16, 1906. His services are needed in the place made vacant by the resignation of an employee. | p. a. 1, 000. 00 | |
| | Mr. George Beesley, appointed a repairman temporarily at $720 per annum, to take effect on Nov. 1, 1906. He will be assigned to duty on the Port Crescent-Tatoosh Island telegraph line, where the services of an additional employee are needed. | p. a. 720. 00 | |

| Nov. 23, 1905 | The salaries of the following-named persons changed from $600 per annum to $2.10 per diem, for days actually employed, beginning Jan. 1, 1906. This change is made because of the fact that the employment of these assistant microscopists is necessarily irregular, depending on the demands made for microscopic examination of pork, and a per diem compensation will greatly simplify the payment of their salaries. He will be required to proceed to Europe and study thoroughly the matter of the deterioration of American grain, especially corn, during the time of ocean transit, and to determine its condition on arrival at destination. It will be necessary for him in doing this to visit the principal ports of Europe, such as Liverpool, London, Havre, Antwerp, Rotterdam, Hamburg, Bremen, and Copenhagen. The most of his time will be spent between Liverpool, Rotterdam, Bremen, and Hamburg. Arrangements have already been made, through the kindness of Professor Voight, director of the seed control station at Hamburg, by which laboratory facilities will be furnished Mr. Leighty, so that he can make all necessary analyses at that place. | p. a. 1,200.00 | |

| Jan. 4, 1906 | Mr. Mark A. Carleton, cerealist, promoted from $2,500 to $2,750 per annum, to take effect on Jan. 1, 1906. It was chiefly through Mr. Carleton's efforts that the durum (macaroni) wheat industry has been established, which has already added at least $10,000,000 annually to the farm value of the grain crops of the United States. In conducting the experiments which accomplished this result there were unusual difficulties because of the existence of great opposition on the part of millers and other grain dealers to the use of durum wheat. Formerly attempts had been made to introduce the wheat without any knowledge of its special characteristics and therefore without being able properly to exploit its qualities, which attempts resulted in failures. There was, therefore, a double work to perform in establishing this crop and a work on the whole much more difficult than in the case of any other introduced crop. It was necessary not only to demonstrate its value to the farmers as a crop adapted to semiarid districts, yielding better and resisting drought and rust to a degree that no other wheats were able to do, but, on the other hand, to demonstrate its admirable qualities both as a macaroni wheat and as a wheat for producing the best class of bread, which latter quality was not generally supposed by bakers and millers to exist. Hence, in addition to the establishment of an entirely new crop, there has been the further result of bringing to millers and other commercial men a new line of operations adding very much to their business also. The millers are now putting out distinct new brands of flour and the bakers can now produce new kinds of bread to be sold on their own merits under distinct labels, and a number of new breakfast foods have been produced. In connection with the work above mentioned, for many years diligent efforts have been made to secure varieties of wheat and other grains which would to a large degree at least resist rust and at the same time prove to be profitable commercially. Only recently have definite and positive results been obtained in this line, and it is now known that we have at least two or three and perhaps a half dozen varieties of wheat, all of the durum group, which for all practical purposes resist rust completely. To the country at large at the present time a knowledge of this fact is of almost equal value to the establishment of the durum wheat itself as a crop, and for certain bad rust seasons would, of course, be many times as important. Conservative estimates would place the loss to the farmers of the Northwest due to rust in wheat in the year 1904 at twenty-five to forty million bushels, or a farm value of at least $25,000,000, very little, if any, of which loss would have occurred if durum wheat had been sown entirely throughout that area. Hybrids are now being produced between these rust resistant wheats and the best common varieties, so that, if it should be preferred to grow the common wheats instead of the durums, there is yet a chance to secure this resistance even in that case by breeding it into the common wheats. Along the experiments with wheats similar lines of work have been conducted with other grains, in some of which cases also valuable results have already been obtained. Perhaps only one example—the most important—need be mentioned, that of the introduction of the Swedish select oat. From 20 bushels of this pedigree oat, introduced from north central Russia in the spring of 1899, together with later introductions, | | |

| | amounting to about 100 bushels in all, there have now been produced in the northern States of this country two or three million bushels of that oat, so far as can be roughly estimated. In one single instance from 33 plants sown in Wisconsin in the spring of 1899 the increase was such that in the season of 1904 one quarter of a million bushels was harvested, all coming originally from these 33 plants. It has now become the popular oat throughout all of Wisconsin and Montana, as well as over large portions of North Dakota, South Dakota, and Minnesota, and has proved well adapted in Washington State and New York as well. It has the two important qualities of being extremely hardy and prolific, while at the same time it is a heavy oat of good quality. When Mr. Carleton began his work in 1894 it was especially concerned with the rusts of grains, and at that time the general grain situation in the United States was very little understood and our general knowledge of crops and the adaptation of varieties was little or nothing. Gradually including other phases of the study of grains the work has now built itself into an extensive and distinct line of experimentation of this Bureau, while the study of varieties of grain according to characteristics, groups, adaptation to different districts, etc., has been placed on a definite basis and a much clearer idea obtained of the situation. Numerous new varieties have been obtained through hybridization, which are now in the fifth generation of experiment, and many of these are already showing remarkable qualities, making them admirably adapted for certain portions of the country. In view of Mr. Carleton's excellent work and good results accomplished, it is believed he should receive the same salary as the heads of other laboratories in the Bureau..... | p. a. $2,750.00 | |

| | Mr. Charles O. Townsend, pathologist in charge of sugar beet investigations, promoted from $2,250 per annum to $2,500 per annum, to take effect on Jan. 1, 1906. Doctor Townsend came to this Department on July 1, 1901, from the Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station, where he was professor of botany. His thorough training in pathology and physiology suggested him as an excellent man to take up the subject of sugar beet diseases, which we undertook to study several years ago. He has made a fairly complete survey of the diseases attacking beets in the various beet sections of the United States and has demonstrated conclusively that one of the most serious diseases, the leaf spot, can be controlled successfully by spraying with Bordeaux mixture. He has also inaugurated a series of fertilizer experiments, which, when completed, will give a better insight into the problem of the use of various fertilizing materials in the culture of this crop. His most important work on the beet, however, has been in connection with the development of the so-called single-germ seed ball. When this work began 2 years ago it was hardly thought possible that a strain of beets could be secured which would produce single-germ seed balls. The importance of producing such seed is evident in that one of the most expensive processes in the growing of the beet crop, namely, the thinning, is thereby done away with, as the best seed can be planted one in a place and no sprouting is necessary. Starting with beets that produced an average of less than 1 per cent of single seeded balls, Doctor Townsend has now secured strains which produce as high as 30 per cent, and there is every indication that it will be possible to practically eliminate the multiple seeded balls and to thus secure strains of the desired single seeded type. This phase of the work has been greatly extended, as well as the investigations relating to fertilizers and sugar beet diseases. It is considered that Doctor Townsend's services are well worth $2,500 per annum, as he has amply demonstrated his ability to successfully handle the important problems which have been assigned to him..... | p. a. $2,500.00 | |

| May 12, 1906 | Mr. Jesse B. Norton, assistant physiologist, in charge of oat and potato breeding investigations, promoted from $1,200 per annum to $1,600, to take effect on May 16, 1906. Mr. Norton's work in the breeding of oats and potatoes is of such a nature that it will require a number of years to obtain final results. He has, however, secured a number of improved varieties of oats, which give every evidence of his being a very valuable man. He is a keen scientific worker and is loyal and active in pushing the work of the Department. Mr. Norton has been receiving $1,200 per annum since July 1, 1904, and it is believed that his salary should be increased at this time regardless of any other opportunities which may be offered him. | p. a. 1,600.00 | |

Mr. Duvel is a trained worker, who has been in the service of this Bureau for the past 3½ years, and is carrying on important investigations on the vitality of seeds. He is now making a thorough study of the curing of corn for seed purposes. The work so far shows that the quality of seed corn is to a very large degree dependent on the way in which it is stored and that by certain modifications of the methods of storage the vitality of the seed can be kept high. This is of the greatest importance to the corn-growing States, as the yield is directly dependent on the vitality of the seed. Another important practical application of Doctor Duvel's work is an economical method of packing seeds so that they will retain their vitality as well in the moist, warm climate of the Gulf States as in the favorable dry climate of the North. In view of the good work already accomplished by Doctor Duvel and the energetic and highly satisfactory manner in which he performs the problems assigned him, it is believed that his services should be recognized by this promotion..... | p. a. 1,600 | |

| Mar. 22, 1906 | Mr. Ralph McC. Baldwin, appointed a messenger boy at $300 per annum, to take effect on the appointee taking the oath of office and reporting for duty. This appointment is made necessary because there is no messenger in grain investigations, and much of the messenger work is now done by the scientists and clerks and by messengers borrowed from other offices, which is both inconvenient and expensive. | p. a. 300. 00 | |
| Apr. 4, 1906 | Mr. Charles Levi Alexander, a special agent, promoted from $45 per month to $50 per month, to take effect on Apr. 1, 1906. | Aug. 1, 1906 | Mr. Clyde E. Leighty, appointed an expert at $1,800 per annum, by promotion from a special agent at $1,200 per annum, to take effect on Aug. 1, 1906. Mr. Leighty entered our service temporarily at a salary of $1,200 per annum, expecting to return to the Illinois Experiment Station, but it is desired to retain his services in the Department and place him in charge of one of the grain testing laboratories, probably the one at New Orleans. The services of Mr. Leighty are well worth the salary given and an increase in compensation is necessary in order to retain him..... | p. a. $1,800. 00 | |

| Aug. 30, 1906 | Mr. John D. Shanahan, appointed an expert at $3,000 per annum, to take effect on Oct. 1, 1906. The field of available men in connection with this work has been carefully looked over and Mr. Shanahan seems to be the one best fitted for the work. Mr. Shanahan has grown up with the business of grain inspection and grain handling, having started as a track boy 20 years ago. He has risen by sheer force of merit to the position of chief grain inspector at Buffalo. Mr. Shanahan is well known to all the grain men throughout the country and has, in many instances, publicly advocated the importance and necessity of a Government standardization of grain. Mr. Shanahan realizes that the only safeguard to the future development of our interstate and foreign trade in this connection is some definite system of standardization, which can only be put into effect by the work of the Government. His assistance will enable us to get in close touch with the entire commercial interests involved, also with the important questions of detail connected with the matter of grain inspection..... | p. a. $3,000.00 | |
| Sept. 11, 1906 | Mr. E. G. Boerner, appointed a special agent in grain investigations, at $1,500 per annum, to take effect on the appointee taking the oath of office and reporting for duty. Mr. Boerner's services are required in foreign countries in connection with our grain testing. He has had a good general education, including two years of Swedish, which he is able to talk, and also speaks German fluently. He has had a good training in chemistry, qualitative and quantitative, and has had some work with cereals with Professor Hayes. These qualifications all tend to especially fit him for the performance of the duties of this position..... | p. a. 1,500.00 | |
| Sept. 17, 1906 | Mr. Leslie A. Fitz, promoted from scientific assistant at $1,200 per annum to scientific assistant in charge of grain testing at $1,800 per annum, to take effect on Oct. 1, 1906. The Department has had considerable difficulty in securing men to take charge of the new laboratories, one of which will be established at Baltimore and the other at New Orleans. The outside men we have secured we have had to pay $1,800, hence it is believed to be nothing more than just that Mr. Fitz should receive the same salary, as he is fully as well qualified. He has a good knowledge of grains, is energetic, careful, and tactful, and is fully competent to perform the duties of this position..... | p. a. 1,800.00 | |
| Oct. 26, 1906 | Mr. Leroy M. Smith, a laboratory helper, promoted from $660 per annum to $840 per annum to take effect on Nov. 1, 1906. The services of Mr. Smith are required in connection with grain investigations, as it is necessary to have a laboratory in Washington, and in view of the small amount of money available for this work we shall have to combine the general office work with the laboratory work. Mr. Smith is well qualified to fill such position, having good general clerical ability and an understanding of chemistry and laboratory methods. In consideration of the amount and importance of the work which will be required of Mr. Smith, this promotion is a deserving one..... | p. a. 840.00 | |
| Nov. 9, 1906 | Mr. W. P. Carroll, appointed a special agent in grain standardization at $1,000 per annum, to take effect on Nov. 5, 1906. The services of Mr. Carroll are required in connection with our grain standardization work at New Orleans. He has worked in mechanical, physical, chemical, soil, and agronomy laboratories, has made mechanical and chemical analyses of soils and various varieties of grains, and is well qualified to perform the duties of the position in question..... | p. a. 1,000.00 | |

| Nov. 9, 1906 | Mr. George W. Shaw, appointed a collaborator at $25 per month, to take effect on Nov. 1, 1906. Professor Shaw has charge of the cooperative grain work which is being conducted between this Bureau and the California Experiment Station, and this appointment is in accordance with the memorandum of understanding between that station and this Bureau, under which the work is conducted | p. m. $25. 00 | |
| June 1, 1906 | Mr. Lee Cleveland Corbett, a horticulturist, promoted from $2,750 per annum to $3,000 per annum, to take effect on July 1, 1906. Professor Corbett is now charged with responsible duties in connection with the management and control of the Arlington farm. The work of the Arlington farm is of the most varied nature, and its proper management requires a man of excellent administrative ability, as well as possessing a thorough knowledge of many lines of horticulture and agricultural work. Professor Corbett has also important and responsible duties in connection with the general horticultural work of the Bureau and is conducting valuable investigations in our farm management work, especially throughout the South. This promotion is made at the present time especially for the reason that within the last year Professor Corbett has received two offers, both of which were higher salaries than the one he is at present receiving. He declined both of these offers on the ground that his work here was in such shape that he did not feel justified in leaving it. Professor Corbett has not used these offers at all to advance his interests in the Department. In recognition of his services, however, and from the fact that outsiders place a value on them considerably more than we are giving, the increase will be justified. This increase, furthermore, will place Professor Corbett on a par with other men in the Bureau doing similar work | p. a. 3,000. 00 | |
| June 7, 1906 | Mr. E. Mead Wilcox, appointed a collaborator at $1 per month, to take effect on July 1, 1906. Mr. Wilcox is the plant physiologist and pathologist of the Alabama Experiment Station, and this recommendation is made in accordance with our plan to make a plant-disease survey of the United States in cooperation with the experiment stations | p. m. 1. 00 | |
| June 22, 1906 | Mr. Carl Stone Pomeroy, appointed a special agent at $50 per month for a period of four months, to take effect on July 1, 1906. The services of Mr. Pomeroy are required in connection with our work with the Vermont Experiment Station on disease-resistant potatoes. Our memorandum of understanding with the Vermont Station specifies that we shall provide for the employment of a field assistant for four months, at a salary not to exceed $50 per month.. | p. m. 50. 00 | |
| June 29, 1906 | Mr. A. H. Chapman, appointed an unskilled laborer at $50 per month for a period of one month, to take effect on July 1, 1906. The services of Mr. Chapman are required for a temporary period in the cultivation of sweet-corn plats which are being grown by the Florida Experiment Station in accordance with cooperative agreement which we have with that station | p. m. 50. 00 | |
| June 30, 1906 | Mr. Fred W. Clarke, a special agent in tea culture, promoted from $75 per month to $1,000 per annum, to take effect on July 1, 1906. Mr. Clarke is meeting with success in his tea work in Texas, proving himself the right man for this work. He has had a good horticultural training and is well worth the slight increase | p. a. 1,000. 00 | |

| June 30, 1906 | Mr. Byron Hunter, an assistant agriculturist, promoted from $1,200 per annum to $1,400 per annum, to take effect on July 1, 1906. Mr. Hunter has been with this Bureau for several years, during which time his work has shown him to be a man of unusual ability. He is now doing work in the Pacific Northwest which compares favorably with that of men who are receiving a much higher salary, and his services are well worth this increase..... | p. a. $1,400.00 | |
| | Mr. Leonard L. Harter, an assistant physiologist, promoted from $960 per annum to $1,200 per annum, to take effect on July 1, 1906. Mr. Harter has been employed in the Bureau for the past two years, mainly in connection with alkali vegetation and the breeding of alkali plants, his work being done chiefly in Utah, Arizona, Colorado, and other western States. He has conducted a very careful series of investigations to determine the ratio of resistance of economical plants to various alkalies present in western soils. As a result of his experiments, he has demonstrated that there is considerable variability between different varieties of wheat and other plants in their resistance to different alkalies, and work of this nature forms the basis of breeding to secure more resistant strains. He is a painstaking and careful investigator and richly merits this promotion..... | p. a. 1,200.00 | |
| | Mr. William O. Richtmann, a pharmacognostical expert, promoted from $1,600 per annum to $1,800 per annum, to take effect on July 1, 1906. Mr. Richtmann has been connected with this Bureau for the past 4 years, and has paid especial attention to work on the opium poppy and on camphor. He has worked out a process for extracting poppy alkaloids from the walls of the poppy capsules after the seeds have been removed. These walls, hitherto waste products, become a source of morphine, codeine, etc. Work on a commercial scale is now in progress, in the hope that a new source of morphine on a large scale may be developed. The camphor work has succeeded in developing commercial possibilities very quickly. Mr. Richtmann is a most energetic, intelligent, and tactful worker, and richly deserves this promotion..... | p. a. 1,800.00 | |
| | Mr. William A. Taylor, a pomologist in charge of field investigations, promoted from $2,500 per annum to $2,750 per annum, to take effect on July 1, 1906. Mr. Taylor has been in the Department for 15 years or more and has proved to be one of our most efficient administrative officers, as well as a thorough investigator along important fruit lines, and is recognized throughout the country as one of the most able men in the matter of fruit varieties. He is also recognized as one of the highest authorities on fruit handling and fruit shipments, the storage of fruits, and the growing of same. Mr. Taylor has charge of all the important administrative work connected with our viticultural investigations, fruit shipment investigations, orchard planting investigations, etc., and his services have always been highly satisfactory. In view of these facts the promotion given is well merited..... | p. a. 2,750.00 | |
| | Mr. William W. Cobey, a special field agent, promoted from $1,500 per annum to $1,800 per annum, to take effect on July 1, 1906. Mr. Cobey has been in the service of the Department for several years, during which time he has been engaged in conducting and carrying on experiments in the growing of tobacco and breeding of improved types. He has produced several types of the Sumatra wrapper tobacco which have been successfully introduced into Florida and have been recognized by the growers generally as superior to | | |

He has also under way careful experiments in the breeding of cigar filler tobaccos in Florida, and indications now point to the securing of types which will be a great improvement over anything thus far grown in Florida. In all his work Mr. Cobey has shown himself to be an able, energetic experimenter, capable of planning and carrying out important investigations and the promotion given him is well deserved. | p. a. $1,800.00 | |
| June 30, 1906 | Miss Grace Graham, a scientific assistant in seed testing, promoted from $50 per month to $720 per annum, to take effect on July 1, 1906. Miss Graham is doing good work in connection with seed testing and fully merits the increase given..... | p. a. 720.00 | |
| | Miss Zoe Benton, an aid in seed testing, promoted from $600 per annum to $720 per annum, to take effect on July 1, 1906. Miss Benton is doing good work in connection with seed testing and deserves this increase.. | p. a. 720.00 | |
| | Mr. Merton B. Waite, pathologist in charge of diseases of orchard fruit, promoted from $2,250 per annum to $2,500 per annum, to take effect on July 1, 1906. Mr. Waite is one of the oldest pathologists in the Department and a most efficient man. He has served in nearly all branches of our pathological work, and for the last 6 or 8 years has devoted his time exclusively to a study of orchard diseases. He has been highly successful in his investigations and has conducted experiments resulting in the saving of large sums of money to orchardists. A year or two ago he was very successful in inaugurating and bringing to satisfactory conclusion important work on the treatment of the bitter rot of the apple in Virginia and other places. For the last year he has, among other things, been engaged on important work in eradicating pear blight in California. This promotion is given in recognition of Mr. Waite's very valuable services..... | p. a. 2,500.00 | |

Mr. Shear has been in the Department 11 years and has served in a number of important fields. He has had an excellent training in grass and forage plant work and when he first came to the Department was engaged in investigations along this line. He has been very successful in his studies of cranberry diseases and has demonstrated the practicability of controlling some of the most destructive forms. Excellent work has also been done by Mr. Shear on cotton root rot and other cotton diseases. The promotion, therefore, is in recognition of his very valuable services..... | p. a. 2,250.00 | |
| | Mr. H. H. Whetzel, appointed a collaborator at $1 per month, to take effect on July 1, 1906. The services of Mr. Whetzel are required in collecting information relative to plant diseases prevalent in New York, and in furnishing us with diseased material..... | p. m. 1.00 | |
| | Mr. Rodney H. True, physiologist in charge of investigations of drug and poisonous plants and tea-culture investigations, promoted from $2,500 per annum to $2,750 per annum, to take effect on July 1, 1906. Doctor True has been in this Bureau for about 4 years and is one of our most efficient men. He has recently done some very important work in connection with the development of the camphor industry and the securing of valuable results in the matter of the loco poisoning of stock. Since his connection with the Bureau he has carried on and completed important investigations with tobacco along the line of chemical physiology, which probably no other man in the country could have successfully conducted. Doctor True has been trained as a physiologist and pathologist, and in addition is a fine chemist. This promotion will place Doctor True on a par with other men who are in charge of important laboratories in this Bureau..... | p. a. 2,750.00 | |

The services of Mr. Dennis are required to afford such expert assistance as will be necessary in certain refrigeration tests we desire made at Springfield, Mo., and in New York State in connection with our fruit transportation and storage investigations during the months of July and August. Mr. Dennis is instructor in mechanical engineering in the Leland Stanford University and has had considerable experience in the refrigeration of fruits. The work contemplated is of a technical character, and Mr. Dennis has demonstrated his entire ability to handle it. | p. m. $125.00 | |
| | Mr. Ellis E. Barber, a messenger boy, promoted from $30 per month to $480 per annum, to take effect on July 1, 1906. Mr. Barber has been in the service of the Bureau since Jan. 20, 1905, during which time he has been very faithful and has become quite efficient in his duties. From time to time the responsibilities placed upon him have been increased and more and more work has been required of him. In view of these facts it is believed that his salary should be increased. | p. a. 480.00 | |

Mr. Powell is one of our most efficient men and has done excellent work in California in connection with our fruit storage and shipment investigations. Some of the most prominent citrus growers in the southern part of California state that Mr. Powell's efforts last season alone had resulted in the saving of several hundred thousand dollars to the growers in their fruit shipments. Mr. Powell's work as an investigator and his ability as an administrative man has won for him the most complimentary statements from all the people with whom he has come in contact. His services have been recognized by a number of outside institutions, and only recently Cornell University made certain tentative suggestions to him in reference to working with that institution at increased pay. Mr. Powell, however, feels that he can do the best work for the fruit growers of this country by remaining in this Department. | | PAID FROM LUMP FUNDS APPROPRIATED FOR THE FOREST SERVICE TO BE EMPLOYED ON FOREST RESERVES OR STATIONS IN THE FOREST SERVICE—continued. | | |
| Jan. 1, 1906 | The following-named assistant forest rangers have been promoted from $720 and $840 per annum to $900 per annum, to take effect on Jan. 1, 1906; $900 has been decided upon as the minimum salary for forest rangers. Consequently those men now in the service, who are recommended by their supervisors, are promoted as these recommendations are received to $900. This salary was fixed because efficient men can not be obtained for a lower one. Forest rangers must pay their own personal expenses and, in most cases, are required to have a horse or horses and keep them at their own expense, and a lower salary than this under these conditions is insufficient, and is so much less than these men would receive outside of the service that it is impossible to keep them at a lower salary: | | |

| Jan. 3, 1906 | Mr. Smith Riley, a forest inspector, promoted from $1,200 to $1,600 per annum, to take effect on Jan. 1, 1906. This promotion is made in view of Mr. Riley's great responsibilities and excellent service. Inspectors with no greater responsibilities receive in other branches of the Government service up to $3,000 a year. In the business world work comparable with that of forest inspectors is paid at the rate of from $2,500 to $5,000 a year. | p. a. $1,600.00 | |
| | Mr. Coert Du Bois, a forest inspector, promoted from $1,500 to $1,800 per annum, to take effect on Jan. 1, 1906. This promotion is made in view of Mr. Du Bois' high efficiency, and of the fact that he is conducting an important technical office. His pay is below that of men with similar responsibilities in other branches of the Department, and still further below that paid for a similar class of work in the business world. | p. a. 1,800.00 | |
| | The following-named forest assistants have been promoted, as indicated below, to take effect on Jan. 1, 1906. These men are the most efficient of the professional foresters of from 1 to 3 years' experience in the Forest Service. Men of this class are either serving as technical assistants to forest supervisors, or are conducting special lines of forest investigations. In every case detailed the promotion is fully justified by the character and value of the services actually performed. The service has, within a comparatively short period, lost 10 men of this class to better-paying positions outside: | | |

| | The following-named forest assistants have been promoted, as indicated below, to take effect on Jan. 1, 1906. These men are now assigned to the inspection of technical work in forest management upon the forest reserves. Their duties are similar to those of the regular forest inspectors, and their short term of service alone renders a lower salary advisable. Their recommendations form the basis not only for the sale of timber from the forest reserves, but also for determining the methods under which it shall be cut. Both the financial returns from the forest reserves and the safety of the forest depend largely upon them and other men occupying similar positions: | | |

| | Mr. Frank Tompkins, a forest agent, promoted from $700 to $800 per annum, to take effect on Jan. 1, 1906. Mr. Tompkins has recently been assigned to the marking of timber and the inspection of logging upon the Minnesota National Forest Reserve. These duties, which he has performed admirably, are similar to those of experienced woodsmen employed by the service who are receiving considerably higher pay than Mr. Tompkins, but who are likely to leave for still higher salaries with lumber companies at any time. | p. a. 800.00 | |

| Jan. 3, 1906 | Mr. Harry D. Tiemann, a forest assistant, promoted from $1,300 to $1,400 per annum, to take effect on Jan. 1, 1906. Mr. Tiemann is both a civil engineer and a professional forester. He is now in charge of the timber-testing laboratory, conducted at New Haven, in collaboration between the Yale Forest School and the Forest Service. He is doing excellent work requiring special knowledge of timber-testing methods and machinery. A man of his training and experience would command about $1,800 a year in the business world..... | p. a. $1,400.00 | |
| | Mr. Elers Koch, a forest inspector, promoted from $1,400 to $1,600 per annum, to take effect on Jan. 1, 1906. This promotion is made in view of the fact of Mr. Koch's great responsibilities and excellent service. Inspectors with no larger responsibilities, in other branches of the Government service, receive up to $3,000 a year, and in the business world from $2,500 to $5,000 a year..... | p. a. 1,600.00 | |
| | Mr. George W. Woodruff, an expert, promoted from $2,000 to $2,300 per annum, to take effect on Jan. 1, 1906. Mr. Woodruff is a professional lawyer of considerable experience, and with special knowledge of forest law. He is doing valuable work of very high grade, and his promotion is warranted by the actual value of his services, which would command materially higher pay in the business world..... | p. a. 2,300.00 | |
| | Mr. James Girvin Peters, a forest assistant, promoted from $1,300 to $1,500 per annum, to take effect on Jan. 1, 1906. Mr. Peters is now in charge of the section of private lands, the conduct of which necessitates both thorough training as a professional forester and administrative capacity. The service is rapidly losing men of Mr. Peters' class as the result of higher salaries offered them outside..... | p. a. 1,500.00 | |
| | Mr. Harry L. Hill, clerk to the forester, promoted from $1,500 to $1,600 per annum, to take effect on Jan. 1, 1906. Mr. Hill is private secretary to the forester and in 7 years' service has shown himself to be of remarkable aptitude and usefulness in his position. His salary is less than that paid men occupying similar positions in other branches of the Government service and in the business world..... | p. a. 1,600.00 | |

As the man in charge of the work of the Forest Service on the Minnesota Forest Reserve, Mr. Bruce has conducted with signal success what, in several ways, is the most difficult piece of work in the woods the service has ever undertaken. In estimating the actual value of timber offered for sale upon the forest reserves he has rendered excellent service. In this connection it is well to quote a specific example: Application was made to the Forest Service for the purchase of about 50,000,000 feet of timber in the Big Horn Forest Reserve. Timber similarly located had been sold from this reserve by the Department of the Interior for $1 per 1,000 feet, board measure, and $1 was the price offered in the case referred to. As the result of Mr. Bruce's investigation and report the timber was sold for $2.50 per 1,000 feet, a net gain over the price offered of approximately $75,000. | Jan. 30, 1906 | Mr. Peter T. Wrensted, a forest supervisor, promoted from $900 to $1,200 per annum, to take effect on Jan. 1, 1906. This promotion is in recognition of the long and excellent service of Mr. Wrensted as a forest supervisor..... | p. a. 1,200. 00 | |
| | Miss Else A. Habercom, appointed a topographic draftsman at $600 per annum, to take effect on Jan. 29, 1906. | Jan. 31, 1906 | Mr. Charles H. Dodge, a deputy forest ranger, promoted from $900 to $1,080 per annum, to take effect on Feb. 1, 1906. | | The following-named persons have been transferred, to take effect on Feb. 1, 1906, without change in salary, from the fund appropriated for general expenses to the fund for "Administration and protection, etc., of the forest reserves," authorized in section 5 of the act of Congress approved Feb. 1, 1905. In the administration of the forest reserves by the Forest Service it has been found necessary to make extensive improvements and to greatly increase the efficiency of the supervisory and working force. This has of necessity increased the expenses of conducting the reserves, and for this reason the appropriation for general expenses, Forest Service 1906, $793,180, is not sufficient to properly maintain the Forest Service. It has therefore been decided to provide for conducting the reserves as was anticipated in section 5 of the act of Congress approved Feb. 1, 1905, and use the money now due and that may become due to the credit of the appropriation, "Administration and protection, etc., of the forest reserves:" | | |

| | PAID FROM LUMP FUNDS APPROPRIATED FOR THE FOREST SERVICE. | | |
| June 1, 1906 | Mr. Albert F. Potter, a forest inspector at $2,200 per annum, promoted to an inspector of grazing at $2,500 per annum, to take effect on July 1, 1906. Mr. Potter will have charge of the inspection and management of grazing on the reserves and the administrative work of the section of grazing. The business in connection with grazing on the forest reserves has grown rapidly, and the increase in salary given Mr. Potter under this promotion is fully warranted by the responsibility which is connected with the position. Mr. Potter also passed the examination required for the position and is certified by the Civil Service Commission as eligible for the promotion. | p. a. $2, 500. 00 | |
| June 20, 1906 | Mr. Daniel D. Bronson, a forest inspector at $1,200 per annum, promoted to $1,400 per annum, to take effect on July 1, 1906. This promotion is made in view of Mr. Bronson's great responsibility and excellent service. The recommendations of inspectors upon the forest reserves form the basis for administrative action. Inspectors with no larger responsibilities receive in other branches of the Government service up to $3,000 per annum. In the business world, work comparable with that of forest inspector is paid at a rate of from $2,500 to $5,000 a year. | p. a. 1, 400. 00 | |
| | Mr. Paul G. Redington, a forest inspector at $1,300 per annum, promoted to $1,400 per annum, to take effect on July 1, 1906. Mr. Redington is a forest inspector assigned to the inspection of technical work in timber sales upon the national forest reserves. His duties are similar to those of regular forest inspectors, and his recommendations form the basis not only for the sale of timber from a forest reserve but also for determining the methods under which it shall be cut. Both the financial returns from the forest reserves and the safety of the forest depends largely upon Mr. Redington and other men occupying similar positions. | p. a. 1, 400. 00 | |
| | Mr. Richard P. Imes, a forest assistant at $1,300 per annum, promoted to $1,500 per annum, to take effect on July 1, 1906. Mr. Imes is a technical assistant to the forest supervisor of the Black Hills Forest Reserve, and is doing professional forest work of great importance. The excellence of his work, coupled with the fact that he is now acting as technical adviser in the management of one of the most important of the national forest reserves, fully justifies his promotion. | p. a. 1, 500. 00 | |
| | Mr. Robert B. Wilson, a forest assistant at $1,300 per annum, promoted to $1,400 per annum, to take effect on July 1, 1906. Mr. Wilson is one of the men engaged in the examination of lands for new forest reserves. This is technical work of great responsibility, entailing thorough knowledge not only of forestry but also of western conditions. He has done work of high grade in this field, the actual value of which merits the promotion. | p. a. 1, 400. 00 | |
| | Mr. Franklin W. Reed, an assistant forest inspector at $1,400 per annum, promoted to $1,600 per annum, to take effect on July 1, 1906. This promotion is made in view of Mr. Reed's great responsibility and excellent service. The recommendations of inspectors upon the forest reserves form the basis for administrative action. Inspectors with no larger responsibilities receive in other branches of the Government service up to $3,000 a year. In the business world, work comparable with that of forest inspector is paid at a rate of from $2,500 to $5,000 a year. | p. a. 1, 600. 00 | |

| June 20, 1906 | Mr. Wm. T. Cox, an assistant forest inspector at $1,400 per annum, promoted to $1,500 per annum, to take effect on July 1, 1906. This promotion is made in view of Mr. Cox's great responsibility and excellent service. The recommendations of inspectors upon the forest reserves form the basis for administrative action. Inspectors, with no greater responsibilities receive in other branches of the Government service up to $3,000 per annum. In the business world work comparable with that of forest inspector is paid at a rate of from $2,500 to $5,000 a year. | p. a. $1,500.00 | |
| | Mr. Willard W. Clark, an assistant forest inspector at $1,500 per annum, promoted to $1,700 per annum, to take effect on July 1, 1906. This promotion is made in view of Mr. Clark's great responsibility and excellent service. The recommendations of inspectors upon the forest reserves form the basis for administrative action. Inspectors with no larger responsibilities receive in other branches of the Government service up to $3,000 a year. In the business world work comparable with that of forest inspector is paid at a rate of from $2,500 to $5,000 a year. | p. a. 1,700.00 | |
| | Mr. Elers Koch, a forest inspector at $1,600 per annum, promoted to $1,700 per annum, to take effect on July 1, 1906. This promotion is made in view of Mr. Koch's great responsibility and excellent service. The recommendations of inspectors upon the forest reserves form the basis for administrative action. Inspectors with no larger responsibilities receive in other branches of the Government service up to $3,000 a year. In the business world work comparable with that of forest inspector is paid at a rate of from $2,500 to $5,000 a year. | p. a. 1,700.00 | |
| | Mr. Raymond E. Benedict, a forest inspector at $1,800 per annum, promoted to $2,000 per annum, to take effect on July 1, 1906. Mr. Benedict is not only doing exceedingly good work as a forest inspector, but will also be assigned for the half of each year to the charge of the office of reserve organization. Although in a technical sense forest inspectors have no administrative authority, their recommendation to the forester furnish a basis for action in reserve administration. Except for the fact that they do not actually give orders, the province of forest inspectors in the Forest Service is comparable with that of general manager of a lumber company, who is in direct charge of all work and seldom receives less than $5,000 a year. In view of the character of the work required of Mr. Benedict and the efficiency with which he performs it, the promotion given him is fully warranted. | p. a. 2,000.00 | |
| | Mr. Edward T. Allen, a forest inspector at $300 per annum, promoted to $2,400 per annum, to take effect on July 1, 1906. Mr. Allen returns to regular work in the Forest Service on July 1, having for the past year occupied the position of State forester for California, giving only a portion of his time to work of the Department. His work in California was admirable and he gives up the position for personal reasons only. His promotion is warranted in view of the value of his services as forest inspector. Inspectors in the branches of the Government service with no larger responsibilities than Mr. Allen's receive up to $3,000 a year. In the business world work comparable with that of forest inspector is paid at the rate of about $2,500 to $5,000 a year. | p. a. 2,400.00 | |

| Jan. 9, 1906 | Mr. Charles E. Goodrich, promoted from scientific aid, at $50 per month, to scientific assistant, at $840 per annum, to take effect on Jan. 16, 1906. During the year that Mr. Goodrich has served as a scientific aid, his duties have been performed under the direct supervision of one of the scientific assistants. He has now attained such a degree of proficiency that he is able to conduct analytical work without such supervision and is fully capable of assuming the duties of a scientific assistant. The Bureau could not expect to retain Mr. Goodrich at the low salary which he received as a scientific aid, and as the experience which he has already had in the work of the Bureau makes him much more desirable than a new man unfamiliar with the work, his appointment will contribute to the efficiency of the public service. The work of the miscellaneous laboratory has increased to such an extent that the services of an additional scientific assistant are absolutely necessary to the proper conduct of the investigations. | p. a. 840.00 | |

Last season he was given independent charge and direction of our investigations in Oregon. This work is largely increased, and he now has an assistant. We are being constantly importuned to extend the range and scope of our work, and Mr. Stover will have to assume a still larger responsibility. Her duties in this office in keeping track of the expenses and needs of field parties has grown as our appropriation has grown. | Jan. 31, 1906 | Mr. William F. Tomlinson, clerk, transferred from the statutory roll to the miscellaneous roll and promoted from $720 to $1,000 per annum, to take effect on Feb. 1, 1906. Prior to July 1, 1905, Mr. Tomlinson received a salary of $1,000 per annum on the miscellaneous roll. On July 1 a statutory roll was created and the work of the office enlarged to such an extent as to require the services of additional stenographers. | Mar. 28, 1906 | Mr. Andrew Wilbert, expert road-roller operator, promoted from $3 per diem to $100 per month to take effect on Apr. 1, 1906. This promotion is made because it is impossible to retain a man of Mr. Wilbert's qualifications in the service at a lower compensation than $100 per month, and in view of the increased expense due to the fact that he is required to do a great deal of traveling. He has rendered very efficient service. | p. m. 100.00 | |
| Mar. 29, 1906 | Mr. Hiram W. Canfield, appointment as road expert at $3 per diem for days actually employed terminated to take effect on Jan. 18, 1906. His services are no longer required. | | p. d. 3.00 |

| May 11, 1906 | Mr. George E. Rayner, appointed an expert road-roller operator at $100 per month, to take effect on May 29, 1906. The services of an additional road-roller operator are necessary in order that the work already begun may be carried out. Mr. Rayner at present occupies the position of chief inspector of road rollers of the Massachusetts highway commission, which fact is a guarantee of his ability as an expert roller operator. | p. m. 100.00 | |
| | Mr. Grover C. Pruett, appointed a civil-engineer student at $50 per month to take effect on June 30, 1906. The services of Mr. Pruett are required in order to properly carry on the work of this office. This appointment is made in accordance with the plan of appointing each year a small number of graduates in engineering to the position of civil engineer student, the advantage of this arrangement being mutual, the Department receiving the services of the engineer, and in turn giving him the benefit of a graduate course in highway engineering. | p. m. 50.00 | |

| | Mr. Allerton S. Cushman, assistant director, promoted from $2,250 per annum to $2,400 per annum, to take effect on July 1, 1906. Doctor Cushman is doing scientific work of a very high character, and the salary of $2,250 is lower than the salary paid for work of a similar character in other bureaus. The increase is given in order that the compensation may be more nearly adequate for the services performed.. | p. a. 2,400.00 | |
| | Mr. Fay McClure, a road expert, promoted from $100 per month to $1,350 per annum, to take effect on July 1, 1906. Mr. McClure is an engineer and has been in charge of construction for some time past. | | Mr. John H. Eldridge, an assistant in the road material laboratory, promoted from $100 per month to $1,350 per annum, to take effect on July 1, 1906. Mr. Eldridge has been doing a great deal of field work within the past year, and is now thoroughly qualified to take charge of the construction of a road. As his work is now entirely in the field, it is proper that he be promoted to the position of assistant at $1,350 per annum..... | p. a. 1,350.00 | |
| | Mr. James H. Rodger, jr., an expert road roller operator, promoted from $3 per diem to $3.50 per diem, to take effect on July 1, 1906. Mr. Rodger has rendered efficient service as a roller operator, and in view of the fact that other road roller operators now employed on the work of this office receive higher compensation than Mr. Rodger, it seems no more than fair that he be promoted..... | p. d. 3.50 | |
| | Mr. Victor W. Dow, promoted from civil-engineer student at $50 per month to a junior assistant engineer at $1,000 per annum, to take effect on July 1, 1906. | | Mr. William L. Spoon, a road expert, promoted from $5 per diem to $6 per diem, to take effect on July 1, 1906. Fletcher, appointed a special agent at $7 per diem for days actually employed; his total compensation under this appointment shall be limited to $500 during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1907, to take effect on July 19, 1906. Mr. Fletcher is a civil engineer and is thoroughly conversant with the various problems of highway engineering. The office has had occasion frequently to secure data from the New England States and has from time to time detailed engineers on special assignments in that section of the country. This appointment will be a saving in expense and at the same time strengthen the office by adding a highway engineer of well-known ability to the force..... | p. d. 7. 00 | |

| Aug. 1, 1906 | Mr. Andrew F. Schultz, an unskilled laborer, promoted from $40 per month to $50 per month, to take effect on July 16, 1906. | Oct. 3, 1906 | Mr. Robert H. Tompkins, a messenger boy, promoted from $30 per month to $480 per annum, to take effect on Aug. 1, 1906. | Oct. 13, 1906 | Mr. John H. Eldridge, an assistant in road material laboratory, salary changed from $1,350 per annum to $4.40 per diem for days actually employed, to take effect on Nov. 1, 1906..... | p. d. $4. 40 | |
| | The road experts, roller operators, and assistants employed under the direction of this office are necessarily off duty for irregular periods each year owing to the fact that road work can be carried on throughout the entire year in only a few sections of the country. It is rarely ever possible to determine with any degree of accuracy the length of time the men are likely to remain off duty, and for this reason it would be practically impossible to furlough them in the regular manner. It is therefore for the best interest of the service that these men be placed on a per diem basis, in order that they may be called upon whenever their services are needed. | | |
| Oct. 19, 1906 | Mr. George W. Cooley, appointed a special agent at $8 per diem for days actually employed, not to exceed $400 during the current fiscal year, to take effect on Oct. 4, 1906. This appointment is made because of the many difficult problems which arise in connection with road building in the Northwest, and it involves considerable expense to this office to detail engineers from Washington to visit points in that territory. Mr. Cooley is one of the most eminent highway engineers in the country, and it would be of great benefit to the service and to the Northwestern States to have Mr. Cooley act in the capacity of special agent and consulting engineer..... | p. d. 8. 00 | |
| Nov. 3, 1906 | Mr. Grover C. Pruett, a civil-engineer student at $50 per month, resigned, to take effect on Nov. 2, 1906. Mr. Pruett resigns for the purpose of accepting a more lucrative position..... | | p. m. $50. 00 |

| Dec. 20, 1906 | Mr. William Spoon, a road expert, promoted from $6 per diem to $6.50 per diem, to take effect on Dec. 20, 1906. Mr. Spoon is exceedingly valuable to the office for the reason that he is both an efficient engineer and a practical road expert, and in addition is probably the leading authority on sand-clay construction. He is at present assigned for duty at Williams, burg and Norfolk, Va., in connection with the construction of the exposition roads, and will be on that assignment for a period of probably five months. Mr. Spoon can easily command a higher salary outside of Government service, and he is remaining in the service at a financial loss..... | p. d. 6. 50 | |
